know less on Wednesday than they did on Tuesday.

And in the meantime they are asked very privately by Cummings, "as Palmer has," where the strength would be. It is a question of the strength of the Democratic party. The fact that the Democratic party is not a united party is a fact that is not being discussed.

With a situation such as this hanging over them it is impossible for any one of them to get anywhere in the future of the candidate. All they can do is to get together what they have and hope that their fears are groundless. It is the amazing intrusion of the Democratic party into the Democratic party that the President does not want a war. The President does not want a war. The President does not want a war.

Palmer as McAdoo's Legatee. With the arrival of Assistant Attorney General Francis P. Garvan the campaign of A. Mitchell Palmer, his chief, is a great question. Mr. Garvan is a great question. Mr. Garvan is a great question. Mr. Garvan is a great question.

There is no doubt that the Palmer managers are sincere in their belief that Palmer can be nominated. The inside figures of the Palmer campaign before McAdoo quit are worth noting. Here they are: Palmer, 197; Cox, 115; McAdoo, 100. The figures are worth noting. The figures are worth noting. The figures are worth noting.

Now that McAdoo is out, for whatever reason, the question is not to be discussed with their estimate is that they can show more than 500 votes if the President stays his hand.

Looking over the list of votes, it is evident that the Palmer campaign is a great success. The list of votes is as follows: Palmer, 197; Cox, 115; McAdoo, 100. The list of votes is as follows: Palmer, 197; Cox, 115; McAdoo, 100.

McAdoo's withdrawal necessitates a revision, but as yet the Palmer leaders do not know just how to figure. Palmer is in a strong position unquestionably. When the time comes, the Palmer delegates will be told that Palmer is not a bigot on prohibition, and that he believes the right should be left to the States to determine for themselves the alcoholic strength of their people.

The Palmer plank on the wet and dry issue will surprise some persons when it is taken before the committee on resolutions. It will have on the ground a battalion of army and navy in the person of Federal attorneys and United States marshals, but there is a weakness here as well, for this is a support is not particularly famous for altruism and for sticking to a doubtful cause.

Palmer on the first ballot will have, as a matter of fact, about 250 votes. His managers say this can be increased effectively by ballot. Gov. Cox's chances are very slim. The Palmer campaign is a great success. The Palmer campaign is a great success. The Palmer campaign is a great success.

Cox is Murphy's Candidate. The real candidate of Murphy of New York is Cox. The real candidate of Murphy of New York is Cox. The real candidate of Murphy of New York is Cox. The real candidate of Murphy of New York is Cox.

Moore, who is a pretty frank fellow for a politician, admits that it is going to be hard for a wet candidate to get two-thirds of a convention which includes Bryan. But he believes it can be done if the President will keep out of the fight. One thing that is bothering the Cox people is a bit of the argument that is being raised by the Palmer and other camps is that it is the duty of the party to nominate a man who has been elected.

SCENERY HOLDS CROWDS

Advance Guard Eager to Get Reinforcements for Strategic Operations.

By a Staff Correspondent of THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—The scenery of the Far West is seriously interfering with the preliminary strategy of the Democratic Convention. Leaders and advisers are having no special bearing upon another. About this time the Democratic party is running the gamut of the good of the party and the private of the White House is merely to have time to the transmission of news to the outside world.

The Democratic party is running the gamut of the good of the party and the private of the White House is merely to have time to the transmission of news to the outside world.

Everybody except the members of the National Committee and a few others who had to be on hand early had plenty of time for stoptovers and late trips and scenic gazing. So it was supposed. But the withdrawal of Mr. McAdoo, almost on the eve of the convention, necessitating a scramble by the various other campaigners to grab for themselves his primary and secondary votes, has tipped the programme over.

Democratizers in Demand. "Demonstrations of strength" are needed; they are needed right in San Francisco, and meanwhile the demonstrators are down at Flaxstaff buying baskets from the Navajos, imperceptibly ordering to the non-puncturable waters of the Yellowstone, finding the perfect word to say on the rim of the Grand Canyon, setting off in the morning, and the Democratic party is running the gamut of the good of the party and the private of the White House is merely to have time to the transmission of news to the outside world.

The special trains leave Chicago, and after that they seem to drop into a void for many days. The Democratic party is running the gamut of the good of the party and the private of the White House is merely to have time to the transmission of news to the outside world.

Gov. Edwards' prestige as the southerner who never takes a drop having been firmly established, his managers are now trying to lead the Democrats to the former ground of his ability as a business man. They are first in the field with a "statement." It stresses his organization of New Jersey's finances when he was State Controller, his presidency of the National Bank of New York City and his generalship in the West. It is a statement of his "championship of personal liberty."

Gov. Edwards wired definitely today that he would not attend the convention, although he is chairman of the New Jersey delegation. He feels that he cannot leave the State during the critical illness of Chancellor Walker. His representatives here feel that a wet plank can be put through by a majority vote in the resolutions committee and the convention, but that if it is a third rule applied to the platform it is doubtful.

TAKE UP WILSON'S CHALLENGE

Socialists Hope to Show Punishment for Expressing Opinion. The Socialist party's Brooklyn organization announced yesterday that it would accept the challenge he laid down to the Republican party to name persons who have been punished for expressing their opinions. The communication to the President was a formal resolution which set forth that the Republican party has "aided and abetted the President in punishing a great many citizens for expressing their opinions." The Socialists do not expect the Republicans to take up the challenge.

Wilson's "Campaign" Photograph

TO show his followers, also his political enemies in the Democratic party, that he had regained his health sufficiently to undergo the hardships of a Presidential campaign if nominated by the Democratic National Convention, President Wilson had his photograph taken last Saturday at his desk in Washington. The picture is the first taken of the President since his long illness.

TAMMANY REACHES LOS ANGELES HAVEN

Even Grape Juice Gone After Trip Across Mojave Desert.

By a Staff Correspondent of THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD. LOS ANGELES, June 22.—With the supply of grape juice, ginger ale and lemon pop exhausted, and ice boxes empty, the Tammany special arrived here at 9:30 o'clock to-night after an eighteen hour trip across the Mojave Desert. At William, Ariz., about midnight last night the Tammany train passed the Kings County special. There was a brief exchange of greetings by the few who had not gone to bed. The Brooklyn delegation is visiting Grand Canyon today.

The Tammany party will remain here until Thursday night and then leave for San Francisco and the Democratic National Convention. Louis Culliver, who is boosting Gen. Pershing for the Democratic Presidential nomination and who is probably the only man engaged in that pursuit, stirred up a lively debate in the club car to-day over the political classification of the General. Every one except Culliver insisted that Gen. Pershing was a Republican. "I think he is a Democrat," said Culliver, "and if he isn't he ought to be. As how he is a good man. I was in the army and I know I'm for him for President, and I'm willing to take a chance on his politics." Several other Tammany men remarked that they were not surprised, for, as one of them said, "Louis is willing to take a chance on anything."

LINING UP 'WETS' ON WILSON THIRD TERM

Administration Men Looking Around to Get Support for Unrestricted League.

RECALL VOLSTEAD VETO

Burleson, Sometimes Mouthpiece for President, Urges Less Drastic Law.

Special to THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—In view of the strong intimations from the White House which tend to the conclusion that President Wilson is in a receptive mood for a third term nomination, Administration politicians undertook today to estimate the possible strength of Mr. Wilson in the event that he should openly enter the arena. The results seemed to satisfy, particularly because they classed the so-called wet strength of the party as almost unanimously behind Mr. Wilson in the event he should attempt the race.

The wet and dry issue as it well known, is one of the paramount questions which will be raised by the convention, threatening a split between the delegates even greater than that over the League of Nations plank. That the Wilson candidacy would prove to be a solution to the question appeared to be the general opinion.

Mr. Wilson's liberal tendencies are well known. In fact, he vetoed the Volstead law, on technical grounds to be sure, but it was a veto just as much as any other. He has gained favor with many of the opponents of the measure. On this subject he has stood even from the time he was Governor of New Jersey as favoring local option instead of Federal action.

Might Approve Beer Measure. It is assumed by wet advocates that if Mr. Wilson were to be a candidate again the word would be passed out that he would approve a law favoring at least the sale of beer and light wines.

It is clear, therefore, that if Mr. Wilson should openly come out for a third term, chiefly, of course, to put through the League of Nations without reservations, an effort would be made to support not only the strength of the advocates of the league as it stands but the wet interests as well. If this can be done, the feeling among the liberals of the convention might find in such a course a solution to their problem, threatening as it is the peace of the convention.

Nothing could indicate more strongly the feeling of friends of Mr. Wilson that he is in a receptive attitude toward a re-nomination than the reception given here by Mr. Wilson's supporters to the statement issued in Kansas City by Joseph Shouse, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, that the President's health would make it impossible for him to be considered as a possibility.

Believe Wilson Possibility. There was instant resentment throughout Administration circles, and while no one gave out anything for publication on the subject, it was clearly manifest that any such talk, either reflecting on the condition of the President's health or tending to throw cold water on the idea of his re-nomination, was considered as a possibility.

EDWARDS CHRISTENS AIR YACHT WITH WINE

Governor Takes Voyage on 12-Passenger Aeromarine.

A huge white flying yacht went shooting across the waters of the lower bay yesterday afternoon, impelled at terrific speed by two powerful liquid motors. The yacht, a twelve passenger flying boat which is the largest civilian owned craft of its kind in this country, was christened by Governor Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey, standing in the front cockpit with a wind of 100 miles an hour blowing on his helmeted head, smashed a champagne bottle on the bow and christened the "Aeromarine SS Navy Cruiser."

The ceremony took place in front of the Aeromarine Plant and Motor Company's plant, at Kearny, N. J., and was witnessed by a crowd of about 250 persons. W. H. Alexander was the pilot.

After the christening the yacht roared north to the south shore of Staten Island, flew along out to the channel, giving the passengers a sight of Sandy Hook's white arm, and then back along the Jersey coast to Kearny. Among those on board were Mr. and Mrs. Van Meter, Mr. and Mrs. Fay L. Fauror and Paul G. Zimmermann, aeromarine engineer, who designed the ship, Howard Mingo, and a SUN and NEW YORK HERALD reporter.

MOORE LEADS IN IOWA

Receives Most Votes for Governor in Primaries.

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 22.—E. R. Moore received the most votes of the four Republican candidates for nomination for Governor at the primary June 7, according to figures announced today at the official canvass of the vote by the State Board of Election. The canvass showed: Moore, 40,245; N. B. Kendall, 22,119; J. F. Deems, 17,401; and H. M. Havner, 16,311.

The official vote for United States Senator showed A. B. Cummins received 117,768 and Smith W. Brookhart 95,554.

BRAINY WOMAN FOR VICE-PRESIDENCY?

Boston, 'Post' Asks What Objections Democrats Have.

Special to THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD.

Boston, June 22.—The following editorial will appear in to-morrow morning's Post under the heading: "A Woman for Second Place." "Why not nominate at San Francisco for the Vice-Presidency a first class, level headed, brainy woman?" "Just at present the prospects for Democratic success in November next, are not rosy, to put it mildly. Mr. McAdoo knows what he is about. "To give a woman the second place on the ticket of one of the leading parties is open to criticism as a device to catch votes. Certainly, there's why most candidates are nominated. "No one knows yet how many feminine voters will go to the polls next November, but the party that could get the bulk of them would probably carry the election."

"What valid objection is there to the proposition? It would be a historic compliment to women, and the Democratic party has always been chivalric. "Would not women voters, voting in a national election for the first time, feel under obligation to cast their ballots for a really good woman candidate? And, if the Republicans venture to criticize, would such criticism not be a boomerang?" "Consider the suggestion on its merits, gentlemen."

COX BACKER REGRETS ATTACK ON WILSON

Rebukes McCombs for Calling President Autocrat.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—"No man will get anywhere by subjecting the President to either open attack or sneering references," said E. H. Moore, manager of the campaign of Gov. Cox of Ohio, for the Democratic Presidential nomination in a statement to-day replying to the charge made by William F. McCombs of New York that the President had been "autocratic" in assumption of authority. Mr. Moore's statement follows:

"My attention has been called to a statement made by Mr. McCombs, attacking the League of Nations and incidentally the President. "Mr. McCombs, who is my friend and for whose ability I have always had a high regard, has fallen into the error of many men who have the fatal faults of sarcasm and who cannot resist the temptation to say things which do irreparable damage to the cause they represent."

"The surest method of having the Democratic platform make the League of Nations the leading issue is for its enemies to attack the President. President Wilson had not only the admiration of the Democratic party, but its entire sympathy in his efforts to advance the cause of humanity. Beside being the titular head of the Democratic party, he is also President of the United States and no man will get anywhere by subjecting him either to open attack or to sneering references."

BURLESON FAVORS WETS.

Also Says Convention Must Take Open Stand on Issues.

SAN ANTONIO, June 22.—The Democratic party in its platform to be adopted at the San Francisco convention must take an "open, honest stand on great issues" confronting the country and above all, avoid "pussyfooting," Albert S. Burleson, Postmaster-General, declared here to-day. He is on his way to San Francisco as a delegate from Texas.

Mr. Burleson said he was in favor of modifying the "drastic and absurd provisions of the Volstead prohibition enforcement act, that he opposed Government ownership of public utilities, excepting the telegraph and telephone lines, and that he was against measures denying labor the right to strike."

One strong reaction to be observed when the Shouse statement aroused gossip over the third term question was the instant reference to the statement made by Secretary of State Colby in his final conference with the newspaper politicians at the State Department prior to his departure for the convention via New York.

Mr. Colby reiterated his feeling that the peace treaty and the League of Nations covenant was sufficiently clear to need no interpretative reservations whatever; furthermore he gave the distinct impression that so far as the attitude of the treaty plank in the Democratic national platform is concerned it must not run "counter to the President's mind"—in other words, that it must be an unqualified endorsement of the President's treaty, unreserved and untempered with. Added significance was attached to the Colby statement because he had just held a long conference with President Wilson in the Executive chambers not two minutes' walk across the street.

Reservations at San Francisco for President's Daughter.

By a Staff Correspondent of THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD. INDUSTRY SEEKS PLATFORM PLANKS

Manufacturers Represented by Committee at Convention.

OFFER NINE MEASURES

Press for Tax on Gross Sales in Place of on Excess Profits.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—Represented by a committee of sixteen of the prominent heads of industry of the Pacific coast, the nation's manufacturers are ready to present their platform for American industry to the Democratic National Convention. It comprises nine planks as follows:

Government and Industry—"It is not the function of our Government to own or operate industry, but to protect and encourage its legitimate development under private ownership and management. Business men should be able to ascertain, in advance, whether their contemplated conduct or practices are permissible or forbidden."

Regulations of Combinations—"Every association, whether of employers or employees, must be equally subject to public authority, and legally answerable for its own conduct and that of its agents. The right to strike or lockout, which is merely an exercise of the right to act in combination, must be defined and restricted so that it does not conflict with the community's paramount right of self-protection. The paramount common interest in continuous public utility service empowers and obligates the Government to control all combinations to paralyze or obstruct it and requires the ultimate submission of disputes threatening the interruption of such service to impartial adjudication without depriving the community of its services."

Private Employment Relations—"It is the duty of the Government to protect each person in his liberty to select and pursue any lawful occupation without molestation, freely to further his interests by legitimate agreements and to be secure in the reward of his efforts."

Taxation and Finance—"The excess profits tax is a misnomer; it continually inspires extravagant business expenditures. Its repeal and the substitution for it of a tax on gross sales of goods and merchandise would serve the public interest."

Transportation—"We favor the development of a definite and constructive plan of national transportation, interrelating the railroads, waterways and hard surfaced roads."

Immigration—"We should supervise the distribution of the immigrant through systematic official and private cooperation that the needs of the nation may be met. Through official foreign agencies of our own we should systematically secure accurate information of the character and qualification of alien applicants for admission and to the fullest extent practicable approve or reject them before embarkation."

Merchant Marine—"Successful commerce and national security require an adequate privately owned and operated American merchant marine composed of ships built in American yards, of American material by American labor."

Foreign Trade—"We must by every means facilitate and not discourage foreign trade. We favor a definite foreign policy toward our Allies in the great war, with respect to the payment of their indebtedness to us, to the end that there may be a prompt reestablishment of foreign trade exchange and trade conditions on a sound basis."

War Bonus—"Government provision should be made for dependents of those who died for their country; speedy and adequate relief should be provided for those in whole or part physically incapacitated for military service and for their dependents. While favoring reasonable governmental assistance in the case of proven dire, loss incurred through military service in individual cases when appropriate, we consider the general and indiscriminate distribution of a cash bonus unjustifiable."

CHICAGO EDUCATORS GET JAIL SENTENCES

Board Members Convicted of Contempt of Court.

Special to THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD. CHICAGO, June 22.—For obstructing the administration of Dr. Charles E. Chadway, former superintendent of schools, four members of the Chicago Board of Education were fined and three of them were sentenced to jail for contempt of court to-day. Three of those fined were women. A verdict of guilty was returned against them by Judge Kitcham Scanlon, who had the case under consideration for many weeks. William Bither, attorney for the trustees, also was found guilty and received a sentence like those meted out to the men of the board.

Peter A. Mortenson, superintendent of schools, Chief of Detectives Moore, three detective-sergeants and several employees of the Board of Education, all accused of contempt, were found not guilty. In his decision, however, Judge Scanlon referred to Superintendent Mortenson as "the meanest figure in the case."

Mayor Thompson was in court when Judge Scanlon's decision was read. He refused to comment except that he said: "They aren't in jail yet; when attorneys for the defendants filed notice of appeal, and were informed that their clients might remain at liberty until after a higher court had reviewed the case."

The ten persons found guilty and the nature of the sentences passed on them follow: Attorney Bither, five days in jail and a fine of $500; George B. Arnold, trustee, two days in jail and $250; Dr. Sadie Day Adair, trustee, fined $250; Francis E. Crooklin, one day and $250; Hart Hanson, trustee, three days and $250; Dr. Boleslaus Klarkewski, trustee, one day and $200; Mrs. Frances E. Thornton, trustee, fine of $750; James D. Renzy, trustee, one day and $250; Louis M. Snodgrass, trustee, fine of $500; Albert H. Severinghaus, trustee, three days and $300.
